

INVITATION

20 young artists, authors and scientists from Central, Eastern and Southeastern Europe explore how postsocialist societies remember the times until 1989. Questioning who remembers, what is remembered and how it is remembered. The results of the research made by a generation "in-between", are presented in artwork and essays.

The magazines Anthropolis and Plotki invite to the release events of the print publication n/osztalgia - ways of revisiting socialist past and to the presentation of the virtual n/osztalgia encyclopedia.

Budapest - FRIDAY - 14th of September 2007, 8 pm

KÉK, Kortárs Építészeti Központ, Budapest 1078, Nefelejcs u. 26.

>>> presentation of the publication, live-encyclopedia, audio-installation and projection, concert by PLUTO, and party.

Berlin - FRIDAY- 28th of September 2007, 7 pm

CHB, Collegium Hungaricum Berlin, Karl-Liebknecht-Str. 9, 10178 Berlin

>>> "Grenzenlose Nostalgie?" discussion with representatives from science, culture, politics and advertising, live-encyclopedia, exhibition by the participating artists, party with band and DJ's

Further information: www.nosztalgia.net

This project is coordinated by Annemarie Oberschmidt, Stephanie Endter from Berlin (PLOTKI) and Szabina Kerényi, Réka Mán-Várhegyi from Budapest (Anthropolis). It is funded by "Bipolar German-Hungarian Cultural Projects" (an initiative of the Kulturstiftung des Bundes) and supported by the Hungarian National Cultural Fund.

bipolar

KULTURSTIFTUNG
DES BUNDES

nka
Nemzeti Kulturális Alap

anthropolis

PLOTKI
RUMOURS FROM AROUND THE BLOG